

Karl Marx (1818-1883)

- Wrote _____ (with Engels) and _____
- _____
- Began to ponder; how is it that so few controlled the factories and other means of production, while there so many who toiled in the factories, mills and mines?
- _____
- _____
- E.g. He noted that there were laws that made the act of forming a labour union a criminal offence
- _____
- _____
- _____

Feminist Jurisprudence

- _____
- Challenge the idea that law is objective and neutral in its application and that everyone is treated equally under it. Not the case for women, who traditionally have been treated differently from men under the law.

1. _____
2. _____
3. _____

Examples:

Canada ranks far behind other countries such as Germany, Norway, and Rwanda when it comes to the proportion of women holding political office. Indeed, Norway (their parliament is 45 per cent female) and Rwanda (48 per cent female) are far ahead of Canada when it comes to equitable gender representation in politics. For years, the Canadian government has maintained its glass ceiling at 20 per cent.

House of Commons (as of 2006.02.01)

Political Party	Number of Women
Liberal	21
Bloc Québécois	17
Conservative	14
New Democratic Party	12
Total	64

Question for discussion: How can greater respect for women's issues can be incorporated into our legal system?